WELCOME MESSAGE

Dear Friends!

We are glad to welcome you at the Eurasian Seminar on Supportive Care in Oncology held in Ekaterinburg, Russian Federation on 27 – 28 April 2009.

The N. N. Blokhin Russian Cancer Research Center is continuing its tradition of conducting top-level educational courses in oncology with active participation of leading specialists from different parts of the world. At present, one of the basic priorities of the N. N. Blokhin Russian Cancer Research Center is to improve the already existing connections and further develop active collaboration with leading institutions and specialists especially in Russian regions, ex-Soviet States, Eastern European and Asian countries within the framework of the Eurasian Oncology Project.

We are sure that such a collaboration will facilitate the accessibility of advanced educational events in oncology in the neglected regions of the Eurasian Continent where there is an acute need for such events focussing on continuing medical education of doctors with the help of leading specialists from various parts of the world.

We hope that this project will be of great interest for your professional development and useful for your clinical practice.
